Howard Johnson's Comes Down

Standing in front of the rubble from the Howard Johnson's demolition are (l. to r.): Stephen Feinstein, Barbara Marzoff, Chuck Flynn, Michele Beyman, Dennis Santella, Alan Burr, Alice Burr

Eighteen months after the formation of the East Norwalk Beautification Committee, the former Howard Johnson's was demolished on July 5, 2001. Commissioners Dennis Santella and Stephen Feinstein formed the committee in January, 2000, as part of the East Norwalk Improvement Association, and persuaded the owners of the property to voluntarily remove the building. The committee was superbly chaired by Michele Beyman. Chuck Flynn spearheaded the efforts to remove the building with the appropriate city agencies.

"I'm proud of the efforts of this committee," stated Commissioner Santella. "Unlike previous committees formed in the Third Taxing District, this one set clear and obtainable goals and accomplished its objectives."

"My purpose in serving on the Common Council is to improve all of Norwalk. My effort in the removal of Howard Johnson's is my most visible result," stated Councilman Flynn.

"Making Norwalk look like the wonderful city that it is with the removal of this eyesore fulfills part of my purpose."

"I took the chairmanship with two goals to accomplish (Howard Johnson's and Cove Marina), and with the effort of the entire committee, I accomplished them," stated Chairwoman Beyman.

Principal Gets Clipping From Local Hairdresser

Principal Michael McGrath of Nathan Hale recently received a new hairstyle. Principal McGrath challenged his students to raise enough money to build a gazebo at the school. The students banded together and raised the money well before the deadline. Nathan Hale will soon receive a new gazebo where many functions will take place.

The cost to the principal? His hair! Courtesy of Yvonne Toro who owns and operates Shortcuts on Winfield Street, Principal McGrath now looks like a contestant on Boot Camp. Yvonne was volunteered by her son Justin who attends Nathan Hale. Yvonne promises that not every customer will look as shorn as Principal McGrath (unless they want to!).

Service Doesn't End Here

Commissioner Stephen Feinstein was recently reappointed to the Statewide Law Library Advisory Committee. Chief Justice William A. Sullivan of the Connecticut Supreme Court made the appointment. The committee acts as an advisory board to the Supreme Court giving advice and recommendations on the function of the state-wide law library system.

Yvonne opened Shortcuts on August 1, 2000. This is her one year anniversary. "I would like to say thank you to the community and surrounding areas for making my first year of business a success. I have felt very welcomed and all the customers have been great," stated Yvonne.

Surge Protection Is Here!

Surge Protection for your entire home is now available from your local public power utility. The Third Taxing District, in cooperation with the American Public Power Association, is pleased to offer whole-house surge protection by means of a protective device installed behind the electric meter on your home, office or business. The device safely protects against lightning induced high voltage and other temporary overvoltage conditions. It prevents damage to computers, FAX machines, copiers, VCRs, TVs, stereos or other AC line powered electronic/electrical equipment. These protectors are installed by our trained and qualified employees and are replaced without charge if required for any reason. Through special pricing arrangement, the Third Taxing District is offering these protective devices for the low monthly fee of $4.95, which will be billed to you on your monthly electric bill.
